I understand that I am responsible at my own expense for air travel to and from my place of origin to TelAviv, which will be arranged with Altour Travel as part of this registration, along with deposit tender.

If I have to arrive later than the group, so as to be unable to catch the bus to Jerusalem with the rest of the group on March 22, I understand that I will need to provide at my own expense, transportation to Jerusalem from the Airport. Taxis cost $85 more or less per cab [not per person] from Tel Aviv.

On Friday, Dec 13 this deposit and the final payment as tendered, become nonrefundable in their entirety, as Tour monies are then distributed to the Tour suppliers. If I cancel thereafter I may lose the flight costs and land side costs I have prepaid, if uninsured or the reason for my cancellation is not covered by insurance.

I have read and understand this form including the page 2 - Travel Insurance Information attachment

TRAVEL INSURANCE INFORMATION - PILGRIMAGE MONEY REFUNDS

please read carefully

Travel Insurance is a common way to protect an investment to go to the Holy Land. Insurance companies are happy to provide flight and land side coverage for a fee. Some people take advantage of it, others do not. Each must decide the risk they wish to bear on this issue. Travel Insurance can be purchased any time, including just before flight time - however, pre-existing conditions are only covered when purchased at the time of tendering the deposit and paying for your flight. Travel Insurance premiums are never refundable, even if the deposits are refundable, because coverage begins when you tender the premium.

Pre-existing Conditions - If you have a pre-existing condition that presently permits you to travel, but that with time gets worse and prevents your travel on March 22 2020 - you may - depending on your insurance policy - have refundable to you, whatever portion of your payment is covered by insurance. For Pre-existing conditions coverage, you must purchase travel insurance within 13 days of tendering the first deposit of $550 or payment for your flight whichever occurs first. This is a fairly common rule, but ask that question of your Altour booking agent before purchasing. If you elect to obtain insurance later, then only new health conditions are generally covered.

Since you will be prepaying for an international flight in order to be eligible to join the Pilgrimage group apart from its origin at LAX, you will likely want to seriously consider getting travel insurance. Your $550 deposit is held until Dec 13, 2019 for tender along with the final payment of $2,400 to Israeli Tour Company ($2,950 land price) so the $550 deposit remains refundable, less a $250 cancellation fee, until Dec 13.

After Dec 13, 2019 - After that date, your Land side (all of the $2,950) money becomes distributed to the Tour Company, and if you wish any portion of it back for any reason - the only method by which you can receive it is by filing a Travel Insurance Claim. If you don't have Travel Insurance, all your money is forfeited.

Standard Provisions - The above is very standard for group travel to international destinations. However, it is possible that you can negotiate something different with an insurance company on your own. You are free to purchase travel insurance from any source you desire, or to not purchase any at all and simply assume the risk of loss.

Don't only rely on what is written above, as our situation may well require its own approach to insurance. Ask questions regarding this topic directly to Altour Travel when you register, so that you can make an informed decision.
